

SENOKO POWER ACHIEVES TWO MILLION MANHOURS SAFETY MILESTONE – 23 JANUARY 2006

Senoko Power Limited has once again achieved another significant safety milestone and set a new benchmark performance. It has just achieved two million manhours without any lost-time injury which far exceeds the record of 1.8 million manhours that had also been set by Senoko Power for the Singapore electricity supply industry.

Mr Roy Adair, President & CEO of Senoko Power, stated that the two million manhours milestone achievement places Senoko Power in the forefront of safety performance in the electricity generating industry not only in Singapore but also in Asia. He added: "Safety is a matter of the utmost priority for all of us at Senoko Power. It requires the close co-operation and commitment of all our staff and business partners to have the right mindset and attitude to always put safety first. This is an integral part of Senoko Power's core values. We are proud to be the safest and most reliable power generating company. We shall continue in our efforts to be the leader in setting new safety records in the electricity generating industry as we provide the power to make a difference. "

Mr A. Nithiah Nandan, Executive Secretary of UPAGE, said "At UPAGE, we would like to congratulate Senoko Power on its commendable achievement of two million manhours worked without any lost-time injury. We are proud of our members' contributions towards such an achievement. At Senoko Power, our members are happy to be working in one of the safest work environments. This is another clear demonstration of the close co-operation between a responsible management and a supportive workforce. It is a win - win situation for all. Their leadership in the electricity industry in Singapore sets a high standard for the others to follow."
